Commons & Chase Hall: A Retrospective

With the construction of the new Commons (finally!) completed, it's remarkable how quickly it has become integrated into our everyday life. At once foreign and familiar, at the end of the year it's hard to imagine that this place that houses the floors we tread our snow-/dirt-/sand-/etc. caked shoes across on our way to the stations where we grab the food we bring to the tables that we sit at everyday, sometimes for hours on end, often repeating this procedure two to three times in a 24-hour period, was in fact just a giant gaping dirt hole in the ground barely two years ago. And while we still trek to the place recently known as "Old Commons" to retrieve our mail, attend to club business, buy our Bates paraphenlia and whatnot, we've transplanted ourselves and our mealtime rituals elsewhere.

But who can forget the smattering of kitschy knick-knacks on the walls of the old Commons, the lines of students that went out the front door of Chase every weekday at noon and six pm, the Thursday Asian Soup Bowl days at the Marché (or was it Wednesday?), the distinct smell that permeated the air when it started to get cold and more and more windows were shut tight for the winter, or the almost chaotic-order that reigned as you maneuvered and slipped past others while trying to communicate to the person on the other end of your cell phone where exactly you were sitting ("I'm in the room between the high-ceiling room and the low-ceiling room on the side, you know, where the tables are kind of too high for the chairs...")

The thing is, with all of these sometimes-charming-sometimes-frustrating personality quirks, we still had the same routine as we do now - we sat and we ate and we talked. Together. The campus congregated at one place with the same basic intentions in mind, and it continues to do so. And while our old Commons is destined for who knows what future purpose, it housed these rituals well for over fifty years.

The following pages serve as a Photo Retrospective of the various roles and functions that the Chase Hall building and the Memorial Commons addition have taken on since Chase Hall's dedication in 1919, and also includes a glimpse of the new Commons as the result of a long process of discussion, deliberation, and construction.

Despite the change in location, "Commons people-watching" among other long-held Bates pasttimes still remain, and they seem to have the lasting power to survive the shift to the new Commons, as well as whatever changes there are to come over the next fifty years.

Chase Hall (1919) & Memorial Commons (1950-2008)

Built at a cost of $100,000 by the Boston architectural firm of Coolidge and Carlson, Chase Hall was dedicated on December 16, 1919 and named for the Colleges late president, George Colby Chase. Envisioned as a social center for the young men of Bates College, it held guest rooms for alumni and other visitors, a post office, store, YMCA room, assembly hall, ballroom, bowling alley, pool room, and offices for college organizations and the alumni. Renovations in 1936 and 1941 turned the YMCA room into Chase Hall Lounge and brought the radio station on campus with a studio located in Chase.

In 1949 construction began on the Mens Memorial Commons. Designed by Alonzo J. Harriman, it became an addition to Chase Hall. Along with a two-story addition to the north end of Chase, the new areas now housed the Den, bookstore, kitchen, pastry room and storage facilities on the first floor; the second floor had one large dining room and two smaller ones as well as serving and dishwashing rooms. Both the Den and bookstore were co-educational. The addition cost approximately $305,000 and was dedicated on November 4, 1950. Memorial Commons was dedicated to the Bates men who died in World Wars I and II.

In 1950, couples were allowed to dine together in the Mens Commons for the Sunday noon meal. However, it was not until a renovation in 1967 that the Commons became completely co-educational. A renovation in 1971 included among other things, a mural done on the wall of the entrance to the Commons. Professor Donald Lent used the theme of the Canterbury Tales for this painting which still graces the Commons today. In 1978, a $750,000 renovation/addition was done by the Architects Collaborative of Cambridge, Massachusetts which added 350 seats in the Commons and a solar heating system for heating water; however, these panels are now inoperative.

The New Bates Commons (2008)

"After nearly 17 months of construction, Bates College opens its new dining facility on Sunday, Feb. 24."

The new dining Commons was designed by Sasaki Associates of Watertown, Mass. The facility provides a visually striking, environmentally friendly new home for Bates' long and cherished tradition of gathering the campus community under one roof for meals.

"Commons is the place on campus where all students come together face to face as members of one community," Bates President Elaine Tuttle Hansen said at the groundbreaking for the facility in October 2006. "Commons facilitates important learning by providing students with a vital, informal forum to express themselves."

"Although the season did not produce the number of victories we strove for, there was still much to be proud of collectively and individually. Thanks to the seniors for their perseverance!" Coach Harriman

'It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit goes to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, and comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worse. If he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.' - Teddy Roosevelt

CROSS COUNTRY MEN'S

"We really had an outstanding season on all fronts. The attitude of the team was exceptional, the upperclassmen really began to focus on this season last November and they were true to their word and commitments to each other. The first years added tremendous enthusiasm and energy to the team and had the chance to see what it really takes to be successful as a distance runner in college. The effort and determination of the team throughout the season was also exceptional. They were always willing to challenge themselves and at times we had the chance to see many of these young men really surprise themselves with what they were able to do. Consistent progress and improvement were really the landmark accomplishments of this team. " - Coach Fereshetian

WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

"We started the season with a good race a Tufts College where we were able to come in second showing some really strong performances. The season gradually got better and better as the top fourteen runners were within 1-2 minutes of each other. We had a really strong pack. This showed at the championship regional meet at Connecticut College where the pack was within 40 seconds from 1st runner to 7th runner. We ended the season stronger than we started with many great performances."

MEN'S GOLF

"I believe that this a very strong season for both Men's and Women's Bobcat Golfers. Whitney Roller '10 and Liz Wilcox '09 went undefeated in dominating their Bowdoin and Colby rivals all fall. Chris McCall '11 shows great promise for the future. Everyone returns for 2008.The men earned their strongest finishes in years at the Bowdoin Invitational and State of Maine Tournaments. Led byKurt Schuler '10 (All-State) , Jake Cox '08, Mike Kelen '11, Jeremy Rogalski '09 and John Canney '11 and Tom Bowden '09, they carded the lowest one day score in memory (310) at Husson and won their third CBB Championship in the past five years. With only Cox graduating, I expect great things next year." -Coach Lasagna

"This season was a huge step in the right direction for Bates Golf. We had people step up in huge ways from older guys all the way down to the freshman All-Stars, Mike Kellen and John Canney. Although we struggled in the competitive NESCAC Championship, Kurt "Cupcake" Schuler and Tom Bowden provided some highlights, shooting 77 and 80 respectively on the first day. We closed the season out with a dominating victory at the CBB Championship, setting the tone as the team to beat among the Maine NESCAC schools. Soon-to-be Senior Captian and role model, J-Bro, will no doubt lead to the Bobcats to another successful fall in 2008. Bro get em', guys." - Captain Jake Cox

WOMEN'S GOLF

"The bobcats had a great season this year. The girls team was undefeated thanks to a strong group of golfers. Coming back were Whitney Roller ('10) and Elizabeth Wilcox ('09) and joining them this season were Christine McCall ('11), Jill Fogarty ('10) and Allison Mann ('08). Allison- we'll miss you next year; Christine and Jill- we're so glad you joined and can't wait for another season with you both; Whitney- thanks for leading the team to another winning season! Bowdoin and Colby have nothing on us!" - Captain Liz Wilcox

VOLLEYBALL WOMEN'S

"The memories we will keep from this season are so much more important than the record we left behind. The friends we've made, lessons we've learned, and strength we've found will remain with us past this season, this year. Go 'Cats!"

NORDIC SKIING

"Our season this year was one of best seasons that we have had in recent years. Results fluctuated throughout the season as a team, but we were able to end up pulling ourselves together and have some outstanding results near the end of the season, including out 2nd place finish as a team putting 4 guys in the top-15 for our men and 4 in the top-ten for our young women. We still have a young and strong team on the women's side and a strong senior class so next season will be a promising one. Also we are hosting Division I NCAA Skiing Championships so there should be some incentive for everyone to have a great season."-Captain Sylvan Ellefson

The men's team completed their most successful season in school history. TRACK & FIELD MEN'S

"The men's indoor track season was highlighted by a 6th place team finish at the Division III New England Indoor Championships and by captain Noah Gauthier '08 capturing his second All-America honor and first National Championship in the weight throw. His longest throw of the season took place on his last throw of the preliminary round at the Division III National Championship meet; it was the best mark in Division III this season. Congratulations and thanks are also extended to the other captains: John Miley '08, Emmanuel Drabo '08, and C.J. TRACK & FIELD WOMEN'S

"The key feature of our team this year was depth- not only did we have athletes that could place in the top three of many events, but we had many individuals that could score in places four through eight which is extremely important when only a few points can separate one team from another. Many teams can have those standout individuals but as a team they do not place high in the overall scoring because they lack the necessary depth. As a team this year we excelled in being able to have people score in every single event. Never before have we had such an overall talented and deep team."

Every member of this team contributed to an amazing experience - and every member of the team is responsible for the unparalleled success we had. At times swimming and diving is viewed as an individual sport, but over these last four months these Bobcats were truly one the best teams around." -Coach Casares

"The 2007-2008 season was one of the best in the last 12 years. This team defeated everyone on the schedule including a top-14 nationally ranked TCNJ squad with their only losses coming to teams ranked top-12 in the nation. The outstanding season was capped off by an amazing run to the NCAA semifinals by Ben Stein and Amrit Rupasinghe. Seniors Danilo Acosta -Captain (Lindholm Scholar) and Brett Hine will be truly missed. We will miss the leadership and talents of Senior Captain Mallika Raghavan who was one of 15 semi finalist for the Wooden Citizenship Cup and Seniors Cecilia Grissa and Liz Fleming who were instrumental in helping the women's team achieve new levels of success.
